Many Soldiers Hurt, 29 Bombs Were Thrown

CORK, July 19.—(By The Associated Press)—Two military lorries loaded with soldiers which passed through the streets of Cork at 3 o'clock this morning were attacked by civilians with bombs and blown up. Between 60 and 70 soldiers were injured. The civilians threw 29 bombs.

CORK, July 19.—This city was in a state of terror last night as a result of street fighting which broke out after a bayonetting incident in the street in which a former soldier was killed. About 10 p. m. indiscriminate firing started in virtually all sections of the city. Casualties reported up to this morning were one dead and 11 wounded.

The firing, which was participated in by military patrols in motor lorries and armored cars, caused considerable damage to property and injured many civilians. Several young girls and women were injured. The military troops were ordered to fire only in self-defense.

The rush of civilians from the city streets was following the 1000 hours when the military troops were ordered to fire only in self-defense. The military troops were ordered to fire only in self-defense.

Agreement, Opening Old German Trade Routes To Americans Shipping, Means Much To Germany

HAMBURG, July 18.—(By The Associated Press)—As further particulars came to light regarding the agreement between the Hamburg-American Steamship Company and the American Ship and Commerce Corporation by which the former German trade routes are to be opened to American shipping, the belief is deepening in shipping and financial circles here that it constitutes one of the most momentous events for Germany since the war.

Through it, the Germans see the means of regaining touch with the outside world and an opportunity for Hamburg to re-establish a semblance, at least, of its former position as a great port.

But apart from the commercial benefits expected, the Germans attach much political significance to the agreement. This was emphasized today by Wilhelm Cuno, general manager of the Hamburg-American line who in an interview with The Associated Press declared:

I call your especial attention to the fact that the agreement must not only be considered from a business viewpoint, but must be regarded as a trial at re-establishing good relations between the two countries. The way we have taken will be the only possible one.

Skipper Of Shamrock Gets 'Nother Chance

SANDY HOOK, N. J., July 19.—Captain William P. Burton will be given another chance at the wheel of the Shamrock IV, it was announced today. The third of the series of races between the Shamrock and the Republic, will be staged tomorrow.

Sir Thomas Lipton would not say this afternoon what development might be expected after tomorrow's race with the American defender Republic for the America's cup, but would be doing that he and his advisers were waiting for an answer.

Cox And Wilson In Accord On League And Platform

Cox, Wilson And Roosevelt Agree On All Issues

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 19.—Governor Cox, in his statement after the White House conference Sunday, said:

GOVERNOR COX

"From every viewpoint the meeting was delightful. The president was at his best, recalling any detail inquired about, as bearing upon the international situation and conferring the whole conference with a humorous anecdote now and then in his old-time characteristic way.

"We are agreed as to the meaning and sufficiency of the Democratic platform and the duty of the party in the face of the direst need of the world in the name America. His thought is still of the war and the pledges we gave to those who sacrificed. He easily sees that as the leader of the nation who asked for our sons and our resources upon a very distinct understanding and obligation, he is resolved that the faith shall be kept. To this his thought and his life are dedicated. What he promised I shall, if elected, endeavor with all my strength, to give."

PRESIDENT WILSON

The president's statement was as follows:

"The interview was in every respect most satisfactory and gratifying. I found what I looked already knew and what Governor Cox has let the whole world know in his speeches, that he and I were absolutely at one with regard to the great issue of the League of Nations and that he is ready to be the champion in every respect of the honor of the nation and to secure the peace of the world. Governor Cox will have the vigorous support of an absolutely united party and I am confident, also of an absolutely united nation."

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

Mr. Roosevelt's statement was:

"I wish that every American could have been a silent witness to the meeting between these two great men. Their splendid accord, and their high purpose are an inspiration. I need only add that my regret in leaving my post under President Wilson is softened by the knowledge that my new commander-in-chief will be his wholly worthy successor."

BROTHERHOOD CHIEFS MEET TO AWAIT NEW WAGE AWARDS

CHICAGO, July 19.—The first grand council for more than a year, of executives, general chairmen and general committees of the 16 recognized national brotherhoods opened in Chicago today to pass upon wage awards of the railway labor board.

Approximately 1,000 union officials are expected to be present when the council takes final action on the awards. More than half that number already have reached Chicago.

According to union rules all questions of a wage increase must be submitted to a referendum vote of the entire membership of the union, but it was pointed out today that the call for the grand council stated the purpose of the gathering to be to consider and pass finally upon the awards made by the board. Under these circumstances it was not known whether the board's award would be submitted to a referendum or whether final action would be taken by the union chiefs in session here.

In connection with the discussion of a probable referendum it was pointed out that a vote by the entire membership of the brotherhoods would require a month or more and that many union leaders were opposed to this delay in the final acceptance or rejection of the award.

The wage increases asked by the railroad workers of whom there are nearly two million, would total more than one billion dollars. The demands range from 25.3 percent for shopmen, to 68.1 percent for maintenance of way employees.

HARDING STRIKES AT POLICIES OF PRESIDENT

MARION, O., July 19.—Pressing his fight against the "splendid accord" established yesterday between President Wilson and Governor Cox, Senator Harding declared in a statement today that triumph of the Democratic ticket this year would mean "a continuation of the foreign policy which has so grievously disappointed both Europe and America."

Apparently forecasting the league as a paramount campaign issue as a result of the White House conference, the Republican candidate adopted an aggressive program of striking at the Wilson policy wherever it showed its head. He took for the text of today's attack a statement on the league attributed to Colonel House and published in this country.

YOUNGEST SON OF EX-KAISER KILLS HIMSELF

BERLIN, July 19.—Prince Joachim, of Hohenzollern, youngest son of former Emperor William, committed suicide today in Potsdam.

Joachim is believed to have been in financial straits. He recently was divorced.

Prince Luitpold, who is the motive for his brother's suicide, decided to make a statement, referring to the correspondence, at the same time to the official announcement that Joachim was suffering from a "fit of excessive depression."

Later today says Prince Joachim that he himself is suffering from a "fit of excessive depression."

He was removed to St. Joseph's hospital, where he died a few hours later.

Has Been Depressed

Joachim recently had been suffering from great mental depression. The only member of the former imperial family now in Potsdam is Prince Frederick, the former emperor's second son.

Prince Joachim was born December 17, 1890, in Berlin. He served in the late war on both the western and eastern fronts. In the first of the war he was wounded in the fighting in France and for a long time it was feared that he would not recover. When he did recover he was transferred to the Russian front where he had several serious wounds from capture and afterwards suffered a serious illness.

After the defeat of the Germans there were rumors that Emperor William would abdicate in favor of Joachim.

Joachim was married in 1904 to Princess Marie Augustine, of Anhalt, four years his junior. He has one child, a daughter, born in 1912.

Soviet Ready For Peace With Poland

LONDON, July 19.—(By The Associated Press)—The British government today received a note from the Russian Soviet government stating that Russia was prepared to agree to an armistice and to make peace with Poland.

All along this has been the Republican conception of what ought to have been done, but this is the first official declaration that Europe should make a peace, and was determined by us to accept it. The Russian government is now in a position when it is recognized that the continuation of a Russian policy of aggression means a continuation of the foreign policy which has so grievously disappointed both Europe and America.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Complete agreement on the League of Nations question and unity in their party's cause was declared by President Wilson and Governor Cox of Ohio, Democratic presidential candidate, after a conference at the White House Sunday.

Meeting for the first time since the San Francisco convention, the President and the Governor, together with Franklin D. Roosevelt, the vice-presidential nominee, spent an hour on the south porch of the executive mansion discussing the League and other campaign issues. All three afterward issued formal statements voicing solidarity of purpose. None made any reference to recently published reports that the chief executive and the presidential candidate were "far apart" on the League issue.

The President declared that he and Governor Cox were absolutely at one with regard to the League of Nations. "The party's chief," the President added, "will have the vigorous support of an absolutely united party, and I am confident, also of an absolutely united nation."

Agree On Platform

Governor Cox declared in his statement that he and Mr. Wilson were "agreed as to the meaning and sufficiency of the party platform and the duty of the party in the face of the direst need of the world in the name America." He declared that he would give all his strength to the promises made by President Wilson to those who sacrificed in the great war.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement spoke of the "splendid accord" of the President and Governor Cox and expressed the wish that every American could have witnessed the conference.

After the conference the three party leaders had luncheon at the White House and Governor Cox and Mr. Roosevelt later conferred with several party leaders before leaving at 4:30 o'clock for Columbus to meet Chairman Cummings of the Democratic national committee and attend the full committee meeting Thursday.

The conference at the White House, held at 10:30 Sunday morning, was said by Governor Cox to have been devoted principally to discussion of the League of Nations.

There were no altercations at the White House conference, but Mr. Wilson joined the President and his visitors at lunch. The portion where the President has received many visitors since his illness, overlooking Washington monument and White House gardens which were flooded intermittently by sunshine breaking through the clouds.

In a talk with newspaper men in the White House offices after his visit with the President, Governor Cox said Mr. Wilson had promised to "help in the campaign in every way that he could," but that he had not indicated details of his plans for assistance.

thirdly, the establish-

Marie Cyrus, 17 year old girl, who attempted suicide Saturday night by taking 7 grains of bicarbonate of sodium, is improving at Hempstead hospital, Dr. Lee Martin, who is attending the girl, says, however, that the danger point has not yet been passed and that her condition is still serious.

"She is still suffering with her stomach," the physician says, "and the results or complications which may develop in the near future, make us very cautious."

If she continues to improve, however, she will be able to be removed to her home Tuesday, the physician says.
Nothing more definite in the way of accounting for the rash act than was known Saturday night has been discovered.

MANY ENJOY FLIGHT IN AIR

The adventurous thrill of riding above the clouds was enjoyed by fifteen Portsmouth people Sunday, each of whom took a fifteen minute ride in the sky. The Curtis plane was piloted by Lieut. O. W. Pearson, and took up passengers from the landing field at the Henry Ruel farm on the West Side.

Those taking a "flying trip" were
Mrs. Earl Hannah, Mrs. Henry Ruel, Jr., Misses Madeline Ruel, Thelma Koster, Messrs. S. H. Cole, Anthony Mehrl, J. L. Stevens, Jr., Charles R.
Taylor, David B. Hall, Daniel E. Star-
ford, S. G. Cole, P. E. Lust, Herman Winters, Roscoe Davis.

Mrs. Hannah, Mrs. Ruel, Mrs. Ruel, Messrs. Stevens, Gillett, and Davis took the short ride, during the loop-the-loop, tail spin, falling leaf, nose dive, and side slip. It would seem that the women among the passengers were far more of the dare-devil type than the men of the party.

Lieut. Pearson has decided to make Portsmouth his headquarters for the next ten days, flying part of the time in the nearby small towns. He will have rooms at the Washington hotel.
He will take passengers up from the landing field as before.

Another Occupant Of Wrecked Machine Not Expected To Survive

Your dead, another very seriously injured and expected to die, and three slightly injured sums up the result of a new Ford touring car occupied by eight boys and young men being struck by N. & W. passenger train No. 26, Cincinnati to Portsmouth, at Macon, 36 miles west of here and five miles east of Sardis, Sunday morning at 9:12 o'clock.

The dead are Ralph Reynolds, 18, Stanley Britton, 20, Victor Osborn, 17, and Russell Osborn, 13, the first two being killed on the spot and the second two dying of injuries. Stanley Britton, 17, is seriously injured suffering with internal injuries and possible fractures of the back and is not expected to live. Vernon Vance, 17, Ralph Osborn, 17, and Eugene Scott, 19, were the ones slightly injured. The dead and injured lie in Macon and vicinity and most of them were former lads.

The machine owned by the Osborns had been wrecked only three days ago and Sunday morning they loaded their friends into it and started on a pleasure ride. A few minutes before the fatal accident the boys had stopped at an ice cream parlor on the road which leads across the tracks and according to the official report made by the train crew at East Portsmouth divisions offices of the N. & W. the machine had traveled just about 100 feet when struck.

The machine was traveling about 12 miles per hour and the train was going at a speed of from 40 to 45 miles per hour.

No. 26 leaves Cincinnati and only makes one stop and that is at Sardis five miles west of Macon. Macon is about four miles west of Winchester.
According to the official report of the accident the fireman had stranded the whistle and was riding the boat as the train approached the crossing.

The view of the crossing is hidden by a dwelling and the engineer could not see the machine approaching and the driver of the machine did not see the train coming.

The machine approached the crossing on the engineer's side of the engine and was in the center of the track when the engine caught and sent it whirling to one side. The machine struck a soft sand and snapped the steel stand off like a splinter of wood.
The machine was cut in two which it struck the switch stand. All the occupants were thrown clear of the machine except Victor Osborn whose body was found under pieces of the wrecked machine.

Reynolds and Britton who were killed outright had broken backs, Osborn and Russell Osborn died of fractured skulls. Osborn, the Osborns, Vance, Vance and Scott were removed to the home of Chittenden at Macon where the physicians attended them. The two boys died at this home and this morning Vance and Vance were still there. Scott and Ralph Osborn having been removed to their homes.

Reynolds was a son of Glen Reynolds about a mile back of Macon.
Britton was a son of Mr. and Mrs.
William Britton of Macon. Osborn was a son of Henry Osborn of Macon, and Vance is a son of Thomas Vance of Macon.

The physicians called were Dr.
Leeds of Winchester, Dr. Clark of Winchester, Dr. Chambers of Sallinton, Dr. McKimsey of Morrisstown, Dr.
Giffman of Russellville, Dr. Fritz of Carleton and Dr. Cherry of Sugar Tree.

The crew in charge of No. 26 was conductor W. A. McArthur of Cincinnati, Engineer Henry W. Davis and Freeman Grover Wright both of this city.

Glen Reynolds and Henry Osborn, fathers of two of the boys, it is said, warned the boys not to attempt to cross the tracks, as it was about time for the train. The fathers were sitting on a truck just a short distance from the train crossing and warned the boys as they started toward the crossing.

J. J. McArthur, assistant train master of East Portsmouth, and George Davis, roadmaster of Sardis, were N. & W. officials who were at the scene of the accident Monday morning conducting an investigation.

bance.

She was using profane language to the best of her advantage and was causing a general disturbance when the officers arrived and took her in tow. Charges of disorderly conduct and using profane language in a public place were placed against her.
She will be given a hearing before she was much pleased and excited over it. After dinner in the evening she climbed upon a chair to the telephone and asked central for the number, which she had heard of. When she heard her aunt's voice over the phone she called loudly: "Oh, Aunt Lila, has your baby come yet?"

Bolshevik Sweep Gives Them Possession Of Rich Harvest Planted By Poles

WARSAW, July 12.—(By the Associated Press).—The Poles are withdrawing to the south and southwest from the railway junction of Lidka, which has been occupied by the Belarussians in their drive in the direction of Grodno.

This Bolshevik sweep across Lithuania is giving the Soviet forces possession of a rich harvest, as they are occupying thousands of acres planted by the Poles, the grain and hay now standing in stacks. The Polish population is fleeing before the Bolshevik onrush, the peasants crowding the roads with their livestock and vehicles loaded with household goods.

The food in the warehouses at Bielodetok, stored there for the use of the children who are fed by the American Relief Association is being loaded up on cars for shipment to a safer place.

SAYS TANLAC ENABLED HIM TO PLANT CROP

Farmer Parker Could Not Even Drive A Team When He Began Taking It—Now Gets Up Every Morning Ready For Big Day's Work.

"No, sir, if it hadn't been for Tanlac I would not have been able to plant my crop this spring," said John C. Parker, a prosperous farmer living at Housburg, Ohio while telling of his experience with the medicine recently. "I didn't expect to ever get rid of my troubles for they had been pulling me down for ten years and had just then laid me out altogether. My kidneys were all out of order and I had a constant sharp pain right across the seat of my back. I had rheumatism in my legs and arms and at times my muscles hurt so they felt like they were tied in knots. Why, I couldn't even drive my team on account of the stiffness and pains in my arms and hands and sometimes I was in such agony I could hardly move without hollering out. Then on top of it all my stomach got out of shape and I lost my appetite. What I ate disagreed with me so that finally I even hated to go to the table. I couldn't sleep to do any good and of course that made matters worse and pulled me down until I was nearly just going.

"That was the shape I was in when a friend of mine in Toledo told me to try Tanlac and I am glad I took his advice, for it has simply made a new man out of me. My kidneys don't bother me any more and that pain has left my back. The rheumatism has all disappeared and I am as active as I ever was in my life. Talk about eating, why I can eat anything I ever could without a sign of indigestion. I sleep like a log and get up of mornings feeling fine and ready for a big day's work. To my mind, Tanlac can't be beat."

Tanlac is sold in Portsmouth by the Fisher & Streich Pharmacy and the leading druggists in every town.

League Will Lead All Other Issues In The Campaign In Opinion Of Republican Leaders

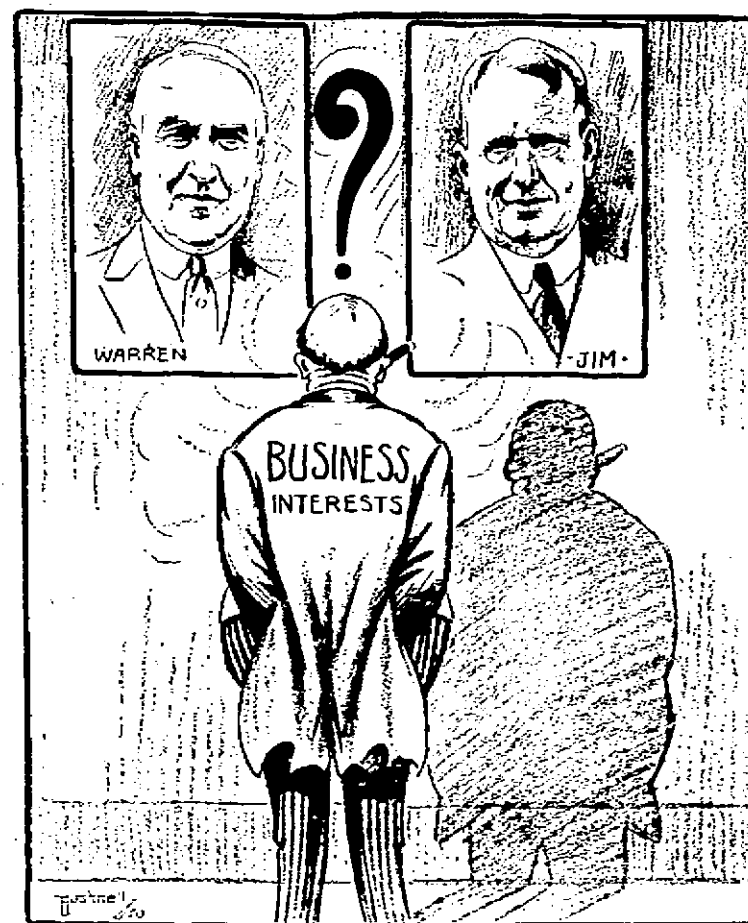

MAIDEN, O., July 19.—Agreement that the League of Nations will lead all other issues in the campaign is seen by the advisers of Senator Harding in over-Sunday developments around the camp of the two big parties.

The announcement in Washington that Governor Cox stands in perfect accord with President Wilson is taken here to mean a straight out plea by the Democratic party for vindication and perpetuation of the Wilson foreign policy. A policy against which Senator Harding and all of his lieutenants here are ready to make the fight of their political lives.

Wood Fibers.

The common ideas concerning wood fibers are not justified by the extended tests of the United States forest products laboratory. Each species of wood to found between the fibers of an individual tree than between the average lengths in different species. The length of fiber does not seem to affect the strength of the wood, as the longest fibers often belong to the weakest material.

IN SIX PARTS

George Beban Returns to the Screen at the Exhibit Theatre. Tonight, in "Hearts of Men," a Photo-drama That Appeals to the Heart of all Humanity—Recommended as one of the Years Best Pictures

As refreshing as a cool breeze after a sultry spell, as vitalizing as a new hope after a long despair, comes George Beban the noted favorite of stage and screen, in a clean, wholesome photoplay, after the series of hectic motion pictures which we have recently had, entitled "Hearts of Men," a picture that will appeal to the whole heart of humanity, being presented by Hiram Abrams at the Exhibit Theatre. Tonight, in "Hearts of Men," a play of optimism and faith and proves conclusively that every cloud has a silver lining. If we but take the trouble to turn it inside out, it interprets with an ultimate note of pathos and humor the true philosophy of happiness. The management personally recommends this picture and feel that it will please everyone who sees it.

A TOKIO SIREN
Starring the fascinating little Maid of Japan
TSURU AOKI

At the Eastland Theatre Tonight Universal Presents Tsuru Aoki, the Fascinating Maid of Japan in "A Tokio Siren," a Beautiful Picture-Play of the Orient, Also Big V Comedy and Japanese Musical Setting

Tsuru Aoki, the only Japanese actress star on the screen, is to be seen at the Eastland Theatre tonight in her most recent film production, "A Tokio Siren." Miss Aoki's winsome personality and rare charm have never before been so expensively suited. It is said that in the role of Aoki, the firstborn young Japanese girl in her career, Universal features her past stories have permitted her the display of dramatic ability. "A Tokio Siren" gave her, in addition, an opportunity to appear in light comedy scenes.

The story concerns a young Japanese maid of beautiful disposition who is unfaithfully betrayed by her uncle to an unimpressive but wealthy suitor. Jack Livingston as the doctor, Arthur Janssen as the Japanese boy, Peggy Pearce as the former sweetheart, Florence Hart as the sister, Tony Fujita and Gene Kline as the father and brother of Aoki and many other capable players add in making the production a success.

When the Curtain Went Up, with visiting some friends at a resort, I met and became quite attached to a young man. One night he was going with his arm around me on a large porch. There was a window looking out, but the shade was down. We were talking of our future, of how long we would be when suddenly we heard a loud knock. "Come in," called a voice. "What is it?" We turned quickly and saw the shade up and a crowd of people waiting. "Formal introductions," said the person behind the door. "This is my son-in-law."

She Was Discouraged

Was In Such A Condition That She Could Hardly Climb Stairs, Life Was A Misery, Due To Her Sufferings, But Nervous Worth Quickly Brought Relief.

"I was in a horrible condition," said Mrs. Lillie Watson, Springfield, Ohio, Route 8. "I was so weak and nervous I couldn't get upstairs without heading myself by putting one hand on my leg and the other on my leg and with considerable effort would manage to make it to the top. When I retired I was unable to get but very little sleep of rest owing to my heart fluttering. I would get up in the morning feeling just as tired as when I went to bed. The fact is, I was discouraged. Besides all this, I suffered with indigestion. I was told about this wonderful remedy, Nerv-Worth, and sent and got some. As soon as I started taking it, I commented to feel better. I kept right on taking it, and I can honestly say that I am now able to do my own housework. I have a splendid appetite. I sleep well, and my stomach trouble is all gone. My heart no longer bothers me and I can now make regular trips to town which I haven't done for a long time. I surely praise Nerv-Worth and would recommend it to those who have similar ailments." Nerv-Worth gives such remarkable results because it is composed of ingredients intended especially for treatment of nervous and stomach disorders. Give it a trial, and you will find that it does the work. If your trial bottle does not satisfy you that it has merit your money will be refunded.

Mildred Harris Chaplin in "Tolly of the Storm Country" at the Lyric Theatre, Tomorrow and Wednesday. How a simple little girl from a humble squatter's cabin was entrusted by Fate with the holding in her power of the life and happiness of the wealthy "millionaire" who mistreated her is a poignant thought in "Tolly of the Storm Country" in which Mildred Harris Chaplin will be seen at the Lyric Theatre commencing Monday.

As Polly Hopkins Mrs. Chaplin is seen in surroundings that threaten to throttle the strong love for life and humanity that she has instilled in her heart as a result of the teachings of old granny Hope. Many tears are shed to take the love out of Polly's heart. Her grandmother dies. Her brother-in-law is torn from the side of his wife and newborn babe. Her father is jailed on a false charge and finally the authorities are sent to take her. Her little crippled Jerry, her true brother, it is then that hate is implanted in the heart where love once ruled.

And an entire community becomes spellbound under the terrible torture that Polly suffers for the woman who betrayed her faith. But that torture is never inflicted for a long light diffuses the clouds above "Storm Country" and the rainbow of peace and contentment is discovered.

"Tolly of the Storm Country" is a First National picture and one of the classic pictures of the year.

Three Autos Are Stolen

Automobile thieves were unusually active in Portsmouth Saturday night and Sunday, three machines being stolen within 24 hours.

The victims were Kyle Foley, N. & W. engineer, who lives at 2115 Grant street; S. H. Crawford of 1116 Franklin avenue; and Oscar Koffer of 5555 East Portsmouth. Mr. Foley's car was recovered early Sunday morning, but the police so far have found no trace of the Crawford and Koffer machines.

Unsuccessful attempts were made Saturday night to steal the machine from Probate Judge Gilliland's garage in the rear of his home, Highland avenue and Hutchins street. The lock on his garage was broken by the thieves, but they were unable to steal his car, as it was locked. Disappointed over this fact, the thief, of thieves, broke the switch key on Judge Gilliland's machine.

After leaving the Gilliland garage, the thieves then visited J. F. Mouk's garage near Highland avenue and Hutchins street. They were unable to start his machine. The thieves then visited Dr. C. W. Wendelken's garage in the rear of his home on Highland avenue and made an unsuccessful attempt to steal his Chevrolet machine. They broke the staple to which the lock was fastened on the Wendelken garage.

The stolen car is in his side garage. The garage is in his side yard, directly over his bed, and he says the thieves must have started his car to the street before passing it. He says he put his machine in his garage at 10 o'clock Saturday night and discovered it was missing yesterday morning. Koffer is employed as a foreman in the Whitaker-Glossner plant.

Mr. Crawford's car is stolen. While S. H. Crawford of the Breve Manufacturing company was attending service in Trinity M. E. church Sunday night, a thief stole his 1919 Buick touring car. He parked it on the Officers street side of the church at 7:25 and when he returned for it at 8:20 the car was missing.

Mr. Crawford, who lives at 1116 Franklin avenue, immediately notified Sheriff Rieky and the police and they are making an effort to locate the stolen automobile. The car was insured.

Auto Stolen Is Recovered
Kyle Foley who reported to the police that his Buick-Baker touring car was stolen from the garage at 1116 Frank street, early Sunday morning, had his car restored to him Saturday evening after it had been located by the police in front of 3477 Walnut street, Termination.

The police, however, found no trace of the thief. The car was reportedly them as abandoned.

The car was taken between 11:00 and 4:00 o'clock Sunday morning by a thief, or thieves, entering the garage by an unlocked side door, and driving the machine away. Neighbors saw the car take out, but thought that Mr. Foley was driving it.

Mr. Foley, later in the morning, returned to follow in a morning, hoping to overtake the thieves, but was unsuccessful. He is a well known N. and W. engineer.

NERVE AND ADVERTISING TRIUMPH IN THIS PLAY

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE."

THIS three act comedy is about the son of a wealthy soap manufacturer. The father wishes to make a man of him, so he compares with his very tall, a woman being woman to win the boy's affection and marry him to a life with him.

Strictly knowing that there is an other business in the world other than the manufacture of soap, Ketter Martin becomes imbued with the idea of developing into a soap manufacturer himself and leaving the "trust" which happens to be his father. In his father's lifetime he is aided by his father's secretaries and the presence of a definite material show. They begin operations with a sensational advertising campaign. Every agent they can raise, scrape, beg or borrow is engaged in making the public believe that their "13 Soap" is "the best for skin." When orders begin to roll in they begin to wake up to the fact that they have to pay for the advertising campaign. The father becomes convinced that the advertising campaign, and when the final bill is presented, he finds himself in the red, in the grand process of his father's business, and he is left alone.

The play is to be presented by a cast of fine characters, with complete stage settings and costumes, on CHAUTAUQUA's sixth night.

COX AND WILSON IN ACCORD ON LEAGUE AND PLATFORM

PERFECT HARMONY EXISTS BETWEEN NOMINEE AND
THE NATION'S EXECUTIVE

Cox, Wilson and Roosevelt Agree On All Issues GOVERNOR COX

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 19.—Governor Cox, in his statement after the White House conference Sunday, said:

"From every viewpoint the meeting was delightful. The president was at his best, recalling any detail inquired about, as bearing upon the international situation and enlarging the whole conference with a humorous anecdote now and then in his old-time characteristic way.

"We agreed as to the meaning and sufficiency of the Democratic platform and the duty of the party in the face of the threatened world war and the world in the name America. His thought is still of the war and the pledges we gave in those who sacrificed. One easily sees that as the leader of the nation who asked for our sons and our resources upon a very distinct understanding and obligation, he is resolved that the faith shall be kept. To this his thought and his life are dedicated. What he promised I shall, if elected, endeavor with all my strength, to give."

PRESIDENT WILSON

The president's statement was as follows:

"The interview was in every respect most satisfactory and gratifying. I found what I indeed already knew and what Governor Cox has let the whole world know in his speeches, that he and I were absolutely of one mind with regard to the great issue of the League of Nations and that he is ready to be the champion in every respect of the honor of the nation and to secure the peace of the world. Governor Cox will have the vigorous support of an absolutely united party and, I am confident, also of an absolutely united nation."

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

Mr. Roosevelt's statement was:

"I wish that every American could have been a silent witness to the meeting between these two great men. Their splendid accord, and their high purpose are an inspiration. I need only add that my regret in leaving my post under President Wilson is softened by the knowledge that my new commander-in-chief will be his wholly worthy successor."

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Complete agreement on the League of Nations and the platform was declared by President Wilson, Governor Cox and Mr. Roosevelt after their conference Sunday morning at the White House.

Meeting for the first time since the San Francisco convention, the President and the Governor, together with Mr. Roosevelt, the vice president-elect, spent an hour on the executive committee of the League of Nations, discussing the League and other important issues. All three afterwards issued formal statements endorsing the League and the platform of the Democratic party.

The President declared that he and Governor Cox were absolutely as one in their support of the League of Nations, the President's choice, the President's platform and the platform of the party in the face of the world war.

Mr. Roosevelt declared in his statement that he and Mr. Wilson were absolutely of one mind in the meaning and sufficiency of the Democratic platform and the duty of the party in the face of the world war.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement spoke of the "solid accord" of the President, Governor Cox and the nation's executive committee on the League of Nations, the candidate for the presidency.

New Shamrock Skipper When Yachts Line Up For The Big Race Tomorrow

NEW YORK, July 19.—The drizzly Sabbath quiet of the Sandy Hook horsehoe was shattered yesterday by the announcement aboard Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Victoria that Captain William P. Burton, who had skippered the Shamrock IV through its races with the Resolute would be there will be a new pair of hands on the spokes of the Shamrock steering wheel when the stub-raced challenger rules to the mark Tuesday for the third race of the series.

The steamer will be selected to match his sailor craft against Captain Adams, however, has not yet been chosen, but the responsibility of the position is hovering over the heads of three men. They are Charles E. Nicholson, designer of the Shamrock; Colonel Dineen, F. B. Neal, managing owners, and Alfred Dwyer, captain of the 23 meter ship, and a yachtman of wide experience.

A hunt for the why and wherefore of this disturbance aboard the flagship of the Lipton navy leads to the comforting conclusion that the visitors are admitting to themselves that they have been out-classed in the first two races and that they are now in quest of a remedy.

Speculation above and below decks of the America's cup race, yachting fleet at anchor today in the horse shoe centered upon the successor to Captain William P. Burton, whom Sir Thomas Lipton plans to remove as skipper of the cup challenger.

Captain Albert W. Turner, sailing master of the Lipton cup ship, who had the wheel of the Shamrock when she made some of her gains in Saturday's race, was being talked of today as Shamrock's new skipper. It was said that Captain Turner would be given the wheel tomorrow and that Captain Burton would suit on the challenger, though he would not handle the tiller but this was not confirmed.

OPENING STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 19.—The trend of prices was distinctly downward at the sluggish opening of today's stock market. Developments over the week end and the railroad industrial situation were not of a hopeful character and the shorts promptly renewed their recent selling tactics. Stocks, equipments and oils were especially vulnerable, losses in those shares extending from large fractions to a point. Motors and their specialties recorded nominal gains and rails were irregular.

Youngest Son Of Ex-Kaiser Kills Himself

BERLIN, July 19.—Prince Joachim, of Hohenzollern, youngest son of former Emperor William, committed suicide today in Potsdam.

Joachim is believed to have been in financial straits. He recently was divorced.

Prince Luitpold, as to the motive for his brother's suicide, declined to make any statement, referring the correspondent at the same time, to the official announcement that Joachim was suffering from a "fit of excessive depression."

Later advice says Prince Joachim shot himself Saturday while in his residence, the villa Leigsdorf, Potsdam. He was removed to St. Joseph's hospital, where he died a few hours later.

Has Been Depressed

Joachim recently had been suffering from great mental depression. The only member of the former imperial family now in Potsdam is Eitel Friedrich, the former emperor's second son.

Prince Joachim was born December 11, 1890, in Berlin. He served in the late war on both the western and eastern fronts. In the first of the war he was wounded in the fighting in France and for a long time it was feared that he would not recover. When he did recover he was transferred to the Russian front where he had several narrow escapes from capture and afterwards suffered a serious illness.

After the defeat of the Germans there were rumors that Emperor William would abdicate in favor of Joachim.

Wedded at 17

Prince Joachim was married in 1916 to Princess Marie Augustine, of Anhalt, who then was just 17 years old. A dispatch from Paris early in the present year said Joachim had brought a suit for divorce.

Was One of "Heroes"

The prince during the war was ranked as a popular hero in Germany. Since the end of the war, little has been heard of him. One report was to the effect that he hoped to come to the United States after the peace treaty was signed.

BERLIN, July 19.—(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)—Friends of Prince Joachim of Hohenzollern deny stories current in Berlin that his suicide at Potsdam Sunday was brought about by scandal. They say that aside from his marital disappointments, the prince was acutely embarrassed through his restricted finances. Like his brothers, he is believed to have been sadly in need of funds, owing to the limited allowance from the crown funds permitted him by the Prussian government.

Prince Joachim is also reported to have been brooding over the ultimate fate of the former royal house and the criticism to which his father has been subjected in Germany.

By those who were close to the Hohenzollern family when it was in power in Berlin, Prince Joachim was said to have been the favorite son of the former German emperor and fears are expressed that the news of his suicide may have a fatal effect on him, as he recently suffered acute recurrence of her heart trouble.

BIG WEEK FOR OHIO IN NATION'S POLITICS

COLUMBUS, O., July 19.—Ohio, the home of the two presidential candidates, today entered upon its first big political week of the campaign.

Several members of the Democratic national committee arrived during the day for their first meeting here to-morrow with Governor Cox, the Democratic nominee, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, his running mate.

Tonorrow's meeting is expected to develop preliminary plans for the campaign. The committee will be entertained at dinner tomorrow evening by Governor and Mrs. Cox at the executive mansion.

Approximately 1,000 union officials are expected to be present when the council takes final action on the award. More than half that number already have reached Chicago.

According to union rules all questions of a wage increase must be submitted to a referendum vote of the entire membership of the unions, but it was pointed out today that the roll for the grand council stated the purpose of the gathering to be "to consider and pass finally upon the award made by the board." Under these circumstances it was not known whether the board's award would be submitted to a referendum or whether final action would be taken by the union chiefs in session here. Leaders today declined to comment on the matter.

In connection with the discussion of a probable referendum it was pointed out that a vote by the entire membership of the brotherhoods would require a month or more and that many union leaders were opposed to this delay in the final acceptance or rejection of the award.

The wage increases asked by the railroad workers of whom there are nearly two million, would total more than one billion dollars. The demand range from 25.3 percent for shopmen, to 66.4 percent for maintenance of way employees.

HARDING CHALLENGES COX TO OUTLINE HIS ATTITUDE ON VARIOUS FOREIGN POLICIES

MARION, O., July 19.—A bill of particulars detailing the foreign policy now proposed by the Democratic party was called for today by Warren G. Harding, the Republican nominee for President.

In a broadside of pointed interrogatories, the candidate challenged his Democratic opponent, Governor Cox to say categorically where he stood on Article Ten, the Armenian mandate and the other problems wrapped up in American participation in the League of Nations.

Sunday's White House conference between Governor Cox and President Wilson, said Senator Harding could not be fully explained by a statement of a "complete accord." He declared the American people not only would ask whether the Democratic nominee had put Mr. Wilson in charge of the campaign and shouldered completely the administration's program for foreign commitments, but would demand to know just what those commitments are.

"It is earnestly to be hoped," continued the Republican nominee, "that Governor Cox will frankly and promptly answer these questions because the Republican party wants the country to know if it reflects all of these ill-considered commitments, and pledges its administration against them."

Members of the executive committee of the Republican National Committee will meet here Wednesday preparatory to going to Marion Thursday for the Harding nomination ceremonies. Henry M. Daugherty, Senator Harding's pre-convention campaign manager, will entertain the Republican committee at a dinner here Wednesday evening.

Thousands of persons are expected in Marion Thursday, when Senator Harding, the Republican nominee, will be officially notified of his nomination, and to listen to his address, which is expected to be the keynote of the Republican campaign.

The notification ceremonies at Marion will be held at Garfield Park, about a mile and a half from Senator Harding's home. Arrangements have been made for the handling of an immense crowd.

Members of the Democratic state committee will meet in Columbus to-morrow morning to fix a date and place for the holding of the Democratic state platform convention. W. W. Darlin, of Canton, state chairman, has announced that the convention probably will be held in Columbus on August 17, just one week following the state primary election on August 19.

nominee it will be pertinent to inquire the basis of the agreement.

"The country is very anxious to know if an unqualified acceptance of the League of Nations program is agreed upon."

"Second, has Governor Cox pledged himself to ratification of the treaty and League without essential modification?"

"Third, has Article Ten been accepted? It has been repeatedly declared that Article Ten is the 'heart of the treaty' and that to cut it out would break the heart of the world. Is the Democratic ticket still for Article Ten?"

What Are Obligations

"Fourth—Next the President naturally has stipulated that Governor Cox must assume, underwrite and guarantee all the international commitments in which his present administration has involved itself and nation. The President could not possibly demand less. A Democratic successor could not possibly grant less, because he stands on a platform that makes the same guarantee. It becomes therefore timely to ask: 'What are the various, mysterious, uncertain obligations to which the President is committed? Somebody must tell us, because the people are waiting to know.'"

Senator Harding's statement was written while the conference at Washington was in progress and today he had nothing to add to it. In the circle of his close advisers, however, it was said that he might have a great deal more to say unless his questions were answered.

Harding's Statement

Senator Harding's statement follows in full:

"The President and the Democratic nominee for his successor are in conference today and at the conclusion it will inevitably be announced that they found themselves in complete accord, that harmony reigns, unity is established in the Democratic party. The significance of that announcement will not be missed. There is just one way that one can establish accord between himself and the President—that is by yielding his own opinion at every point to that of the President."

"When the nominee establishes accord with the President, it means that the latter is in charge of the campaign and will be the real force of the next administration if it is Democratic."

"Therefore, in connection with the announcement of harmony between the President and the Democratic ever had in peace.

"What did the President want of these vast armaments, unless to fight with them? Governor Cox will know for he is in complete accord with the President."

It is earnestly to be hoped that Governor Cox will frankly and promptly answer these questions because the Republican party wants the country to know if it reflects all these ill-considered commitments and pledges its administration against them."

Reign Of Terror In Irish Town

CORK, July 19.—This city was in a state of terror last night as a result of street fighting which broke out after a haywadding incident in the street in which a former soldier was killed. About 10 p. m. indiscriminate firing started in virtually all sections of the city. Casualties reported up to this morning were one dead and 11 wounded.

The firing, which was participated in, it is stated, by military patrols in motor lorries and armored cars, caused consternation. Frightened women and children hurried into side streets and doorways and knocked frantically at numerous houses for admission. Volunteer patrols hurried to their assistance, but several young girls and former soldiers already had been hit by flying bullets and were taken to the hospital.

The rush of civilians from the principal streets was followed by the volunteers who warned the people to lie down while the volunteer guards watched the movements of the armored cars.

Most of the casualties occurred in the northern part of the city, where the fire was fiercest. The more serious cases, retaining the worst and sending the other wounded home after giving them treatment.

After midnight the streets were comparatively quiet, with the military patrolling them. There was occasional firing up to two o'clock this morning, however, the patrols once in a while letting out a volley.

THE MAN AND THE MONUMENT

The celebration of the completion of Dam No. 31, or Portsmouth dam, was quite an event in commercial and community life.

That was well, for the dam marks an important link in the chain of development of a mighty scheme, and so the display of local pride and gratification in the achievement was justified.

The occasion had its inspiration that was not without a sharp sting of regret in the knowledge that increasing years had laid heavy toll upon the man, who conceived the scheme of canalization and made it impossible for him to attend the celebration.

The inspiration lies in the fact that it marks a distinct triumph of American genius. There were those, and their name was legion, who derided the damming of the Ohio as chimerical and impossible.

Such a thing had never been done under like conditions and it never could be done. American engineers have convinced and demonstrated it can be done. May be new principles and new ideas had to be brought into the new science of hydraulics, but the fact is that the Ohio is rapidly being converted into a canal, the feasibility of which, maintenance and operation of which is no longer a matter of dispute or doubt.

The finest thing in all the world is to see a vision come true. Thirty years ago John I. Vance, then the editor of a little weekly at Gallipolis began to agitate the canalization of the Ohio, his cry being: "A permanent stage of six feet from Pittsburgh to Cairo."

Men derided him as visionary, a crank. They mocked the man and his scheme just as every vision and visionary, that marked the steps of human progress have been mocked and scorned. John I. Vance neither wavered nor repined under the contumely. Steadily his feet crept towards the wonderful mountain of Dreams Come True.

He gathered converts and recruits and in a few years he organized the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, of which he has been the perennial and will be the perpetual president until both his work and he are done. At an early meeting of the association the shibboleth was slightly, but momentously altered—nine feet from Pittsburgh to Cairo, and so the vision near realization, greater and more wonderful than it was dreamed.

One of the speakers at the banquet, speaking truthfully and touchingly of the credit and honor due this old man, after all the years of disappointment and bitterness, blessed and unfelt in the glory of accomplishment, now grown wonderful, said he would build to him at the confluence of the Monongahela and the Ohio, a towering figure, with arms extended, and under one he would engrave the name of John I. Vance and under the other the names of those who had kept early and long faith and activity with him.

That's fine, but it is the wizardry of the vision and vigilance of the man that is going to convert the Ohio Valley from Pittsburgh to Louisville into the workshop of the world, springing up factory and mill and mighty mills, in the valleys. By the same reason will the tall and denuded hills, now largely bare, again be green, this time of the golden apple and the red peach, and we like to think that the imperishable memorial to John I. Vance, graven on every heart, will be blessedly flowing waters, the cloud of smoke by day and the pillar of fire by night and the incense rising above the sweet odor of millions of blossoming fruits, giving peace, happiness and health to mankind's busiest leaders.

Down they go, those Reds. But remember what happened last year and it is no trick at all for history to repeat itself, much less the best team.

One of the oddities of baseball is the St. Louis teams running neck and neck in their respective leagues.

Perhaps, no other crime ever created so much indignation locally as that of the moral degenerate who stuck a knife through the side board on the Truay Park play ground and caused the serious wounding of a small girl. Indeed, it was a most atrocious crime, so wanton and fiendish, that its conception, to say nothing of its deliberate perpetration, would seem to be impossible. An unfortunate phase is that the law and practice are not adjusted to the proper punishment of such crimes. The likely course in this case is that the culprit will be sentenced to an indeterminate sentence in some penal institution, according to his age, and in a few months he will be paroled or pardoned. Some say the fellow ought to be hung. No, no, the fellow that invented the indeterminate sentence law ought to be the victim instead.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

LOOKING FOR NEW THRILLS

Went over to Philadelphia yesterday to make sketches of a bride, a very popular one, of course, and an F. F. P. as you may imagine, or I should not have gone so far in this land. (F. F. P. stands for First Family of Philadelphia).

The wedding was a mighty affair and I was properly impressed. Made some cracker-jack sketches of the blushing bride, who looked more flushed from the heat than from any undue timidity of fear of the unknown. (Sense being her husband).

I have never sat through such a long ceremony, and I had plenty of time to sketch, which was a life-saver. Honest, that little pencil of mine saves me from many a boring situation in life. It also keeps me smiling, for I see the humor of any and all situations, pretty nearly always, and let them right down in my book.

Well, after the twin were made one and my job was done, I looked about me to see what was to be done. Most of my friends were out of town, so I felt lonely in Philly, for the first time ever!

Decided that I would look up an acquaintance friend of mine who is engaged in the flying business and likes to fly. He is, and got Raymond on the phone.

He was glad to hear my cheerful voice, and immediately asked me to let him take me up in one of his planes. Weather being so warm, I accepted, thinking of the cool he would lead me to while the rambling world whirled below us.

Met Raymond at about two o'clock, and we started off in his car for Esington Field, which is right near Philly. Got down there and he showed me all over the grounds, and let me rub her as much as I wanted to. I was properly impressed by the different machines in the hangars, and would have liked to try each one of them.

Raymond told me to wait and see how much I liked flying, before clearing all the planes in the place, and I thought this good advice myself.

Then he led me to the hydroplane that we were to go up in, lifted me into one of the seats and got into the other himself. It was not like those nice, comfortable flying boats that most ladies go up in, and need not fear to do so, for they cannot look straight down, a clear drop, like one can from the serene seat of a machine such as we went up in. The bottom of the boat should keep one from seeing down the dizzy heights. Of course, I did not know all this at the time, so went into that plane blithely enough.

It was a brilliant afternoon, and all the elements were in my favor, so Raymond informed me, and just as we were ready to start he decided that I had better put on a suit of his, as I might get chilled up if I perspired in keeping on my own garments.

Much against my will, then I climbed out and went to a small hut with him. Here he handed me a pair of knickerbockers and jacket and everything to match, cap plus goggles. I slid into them—and then slid myself up to him and asked him how I looked. I looked so funny to myself that I promptly made a sketch of myself as an aviator for The Evening Leader, which was a noble idea, as you will admit!

After that we started.

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

"My Studly, how I should like to see my sweet little sister and dear father and mother again," Billy would say. "And would it not be strange if I should happen to get on a ship bound for Boston?"

"You don't know," I would tell you, "if I should have such luck I would not let the grass grow under my feet until I was back on the farm again."

"I believe you are homesick," said Studly.

"You're right I am," admitted Billy.

"Well, I don't blame you for I too, would be homesick if I had ever had a boy. I don't have any in the United States. "Say we do and perhaps it is so high, we can see the ocean from it. We shall then be able to see how far we have to travel before reaching the coast."

"That is a good idea and we will follow it out. Now let us lie down here and spend the night and start early in the morning before the sun gets too hot."

"Ten minutes later they were both asleep with Studly curled up under Billy's nose, he always got as close as possible for company."

It took our travelers several days to reach the volcano and its summit, and those days were days of hardships, with little to eat or drink, and both were looking tired and thin when they met them again within a few feet of the opening of the crater.

"Billy, I think sight-seeing is pretty hard work especially when you have to walk all the way and nearly die of thirst and hunger. These hot climates and hardships have been burning and cutting my feet all to pieces and I wish I had boots like yours."

"Well, if you wish you had my boots I wish I had your short hair, for I am almost sufficed with my long coat besides the air in this altitude is hard to breathe. One gets out of breath so easily and feels as if there was nothing to the air. Phew! what's that terrible odor? It smells as if a whole factory of sulphur matches had gone off at once. Hark! What is that rumbling noise, it sounds like thunder but it can't be that for the sky is without a cloud and is as blue as blue can be. Say, Studly did you feel the earth shake then? If we were down on the level I should think it were an earthquake. Gracious! did you hear that explosion and feel the earth shake again? We had better get out of this.

WHO'S WHO In The Days News

MRS. COEA WILSON STEWART

The splendid service that Mrs. Coea Wilson Stewart has rendered her state was fittingly recognized by the Kentucky delegation to the Democratic National Convention when it voted unanimously to elect her for president on the thirty-sixth ballot.

The organization by Mrs. Stewart of the famous "Moon Light Schools" of her own county, Kentucky, brought her into national prominence eight years ago. Due to her efforts, there were only twenty-five illiterates in that county in 1911. Two years before it had been the most illiterate county in the state.

Mrs. Stewart was born of mountain stock, but was fortunate in receiving a college education. She early decided to devote her life to improving conditions in her home county and to become a school teacher and later superintendent of education. As superintendent she received a novel idea of getting the adult illiterates to come to school on moonlight nights.

All of her teachers volunteered to help her, and when the moon came in full on the moonlighters could travel over the rough and dangerous roads, the first school was opened. More than 1200 men and women from eighty to eighty-six years old were enrolled the first night.

They came tramping over the hills, and out of the hollows, some to add to the meager education received from the inadequate schools of their childhood, some to receive their first lessons in reading and writing. Almost one-third of the population of the county was enrolled.

In September, 1912, a "Midnight School Teachers' Institute" was held in Morehead, Ky., and the teachers who had conducted the first schools instructed others who wished to start night schools in other counties. Within a year the movement had spread to eight or ten counties. By 1917 the work was being carried on in seventeen states.

Mrs. Stewart has been president of the Kentucky Literacy Commission since 1916. She is a member of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, and is known throughout the country as an authority on education. During the war she worked extensively among the illiterate drafted men of her state, in cooperation with the U. S. C. A.

New-York - Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 18.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: these days are gloriously in their white. Up early and to the depot to see W. W. W. It is startling—even, eerie—to look at Mrs. Charlotte, home from India and be brought me a mule of the mask of the moon. Only the women of Broadway splash their white cheeks with red. Whiteness seems to be a fad along the avenue. Rouge is banned. But under the eyes are penciled black shadows. Only one description fits it. It is purely disgusting.

A young girl fifteen went out with some young men and women on her first "party" one day last week. She was asked to take a drink of brandy—the first drink she had ever tasted. Three hours later she was taken to a hospital in convulsions. The next day she was permanently blind. The brandy was made of wood alcohol. The other members of the party only suffered a slight illness.

Remind Wolf, the famous chronicler of Broadway for the Morning Telegraph, is taking his first vacation in years—ten to be exact. He is going to London to write four plays that have been rattling around in his head for some time. No first night is complete without him. And no banquet—or oration—is a boning success without him as a postmaster. He is the best after-dinner speaker in New York. Wolf came from a little town upstate. He knocked around on Park Row until the late Alfred Henry Lewis suggested a job for him on the Telegraph. Between first nights he has managed to write 14 plays, many of them in collaboration with his best friend, Chauncey Pollock. It is rumored on Broadway that he has decided to give up newspaper work, but the theatrical profession is hoping it is just a rumor.

I don't know exactly what it is but there is something that reminds me of William Jennings Bryan in the five story fall that a broad man had the other day. After he struck the pavement he jumped up and walked away with a broad smile.

FOUR ARE KILLED WHEN N. & W. TRAIN HITS AUTO

Another Occupant Of Wrecked Machine Not Expected To Survive

Four dead, another very seriously injured and expected to die, and three slightly injured were the result of a new Ford touring car occupied by eight boys and young men being struck by N. & W. passenger train No. 25, Cincinnati to Portsmouth, at Macon, 34 miles west of Jere and five miles east of Sardonia, Sunday morning at 9:15 a.m.

The dead are Ralph Reynolds, 18, Stanley Britton, 21, Victor Osborn, 18, and Russell Osborn, 17, the first two being killed outright and the second two dying of injuries two hours later. Stanley Britton, 18, is seriously injured, suffering with internal injuries and possible fractures of the back and is not expected to live. Victor Osborn, 17, Ralph Osborn, 15, and Eugene Scott, 19, were the ones slightly injured. The dead and injured lived in Macon and vicinity and most of them were former lads.

The machine owned by the Osborns, steel stand off like a splinter of wood, was received by them only three days ago and Sunday morning they loaded their friends into it and started on a pleasure ride. A few minutes before the fatal accident the boys had stopped at an ice cream parlor on the road which leads across the tracks and according to the official report filed by the train crew at East Portsmouth divisions offices of the N. & W. the machine had traveled just about 100 feet when struck.

The machine was traveling about 12 miles per hour and the train was going at a speed of from 40 to 45 miles per hour.

No. 25 leaves Cincinnati and only makes one stop and that is at Sardonia, five miles west of Macon. Macon is about four miles west of Winchester. According to the official report of the accident the fireman had sounded the whistle and was running the bell as the train approached the crossing. The view of the crossing is hidden by a dwelling and the engineer could not see the machine approaching and the driver of the machine did not see the train coming.

The machine approached the crossing on the engineer's side of the engine and was in the center of the track when the engine caught and ran it, wheeling to one side. The machine struck a switch stand and snapped the

Auto Thieves Active In City, Three Stolen, One Recovered

Automobile thieves were unusually active in Portsmouth Saturday night and Sunday, three machines being stolen within 24 hours.

The victims were Kyle Foley, N. & W. engineer, who lives at 2115 Grant street; S. H. Crawford of 1116 Franklin avenue, and Oscar Ketter of 3054 East Portsmouth. Mr. Foley's car was recovered early Sunday morning, but the police so far have found no trace of the Crawford and Ketter machines.

Unsuccessful attempts were made Saturday night to steal the machine from Probate Judge Gilliland's garage in the rear of his house, Highland avenue and Hutchins street. The lock on his garage was broken by the thieves, but they were unable to steal his car, as it was locked. Disappointed over this fact, the thief, or thieves, broke the switch key on Judge Gilliland's machine.

After leaving the Gilliland garage the thieves then visited J. F. Menke's garage near Highland avenue and Hutchins street. They were unable to start his machine. The thieves then visited Dr. C. W. Wendelken's garage in the rear of his home on Highland avenue and made an unsuccessful attempt to steal his Chevrolet machine. They broke the staple, to which the lock was fastened on the Wendelken garage.

Thieves early Sunday morning stole Oscar Ketter's five passenger Buick machine from his garage at his home, 3054 Walnut street, East Portsmouth. His garage is in his side yard, directly over his bed, and he says the thieves must have pushed his car to the street before starting it. He says he put his machine in his garage at 10 o'clock Saturday night and discovered it was missing yesterday morning. Ketter is employed as a foreman in the Whitaker Glassier plant.

Mr. Crawford's Car Is Stolen

While S. H. Crawford of the Ketter Manufacturing company was attending log services in Trinity M. E. church Sunday night, a thief stole his 1919 Buick touring car. He parked it on the Offene street side of the church, after it had been found by the police in front of 3167 Walnut street, Terminal.

The police, however, found no trace of the thief. The car was reported stolen as a landmark.

The car was taken between three and four o'clock Sunday morning, by an unknown side door, and driving the machine away. Neighbors saw the car taken out, but thought that Mr. Foley was driving it.

Auto Stolen Is Recovered

Kyle Foley who reported to the police that his Buick touring car had been stolen from the garage, 2115 Grant street, early Sunday morning, had his car restored to him Sunday evening, after it had been found by the police in front of 3167 Walnut street, Terminal.

Cox And Wilson In Accord

"We discussed the subject in a general way, the President knowing from statements I had already made what my position was."

Governor Cox said the newspapers would have to draw their own conclusions from the formal statements, adding:

"There will be no mistaking my position after my speech of acceptance. In the meantime you must understand how far discussion would be improper."

The Governor, however, in reply to another inquiry, said he had no hesitation in stating that the prohibition enforcement law had not been mentioned during his visit with the President.

Crowds lined the White House grounds and to watch the arrival and departure of the President's visitors and cheered Governor Cox and Mr. Hoover as their automobiles passed. The President and War Admiral Grayson, the chief executive's physician, were on the porch awaiting the candidates. Mr. Grayson returned after their going. The President was said to have warmly congratulated both candidates on their nomination and during their stay at the White House had many cordial conversations with them. The conference continued as long that Governor Cox was unable to make his desire to attend clear to his hosts.

Talked With Glas

Between his conference with the President and his departure, Governor Cox and Mr. Hoover had a long talk and Governor Glass of Virginia, chairman of the platform committee at the Democratic convention, was also present. The three men talked over the platform and the future of the party. The Governor said that he was deeply interested in the platform and the future of the party.
